SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23, 1880 Entrop Reno GAZETTE DEAR SIR I have to own receipt of your mein rendum of the 31st ulto. In it you declare your sympathy with the cit zens of Nevada, and that your peround listerest is so closely related to the interests of the state at large, as to impel you to ally yourself with welfare and prosperity of its several communities. You say also, that the pelicy of the Central Pacific Railroad Company with respect to freights and fares is being discussed by your people and papers, and that the tendency of the discussion is towards unfavore ble criticism of freights particularly, as being probibitory of trade in, and unjustly discrimitive against your state. Also that many statements are roing the round of the press, which, from your acquaintance with the managers of the read, and your experience with practical railroading, you cannot credit. That there are thers which are calculated to misreprecent the company before the citizen, of knowing the reason for or against the act complained of. You think they must be susceptible of an exation which will place th before the public in an entirely different light. Because of the identity of Sumner, your interests with those of the state, true interests of your state, and those of this company are not widely separated, if they are not absolutely interdependent, and because you believe these ex parte statements of press and individuals, who are not enlightene on the subject, cannot do otherwise than work mischief, and perhaps ir-reparable injury to the carrier and the

You my that it is tharged in a genare mariously damaging her material interests, and successfully militating against the interests of the road itself." You know how difficult it is to senior as alteration so sweeping, and unsupported by a single ex-ample of the damage complained of. The thoughtful man will doubtless see that the charge as stated refutes itself, hat the charge as stated refutes itself, refers to matters of which the comany's managers must be wholly ignosat. It is entirely unreasonable to appose that any railroad company ill seffect a perill manifestly oposed to its interest. Again, it the most selfish scheme of management. The effect produced could be scarcely less obvious to the responsible officials of the road, and to the stockholders than to the public. Such a result could hot be produced with the consent of the owners of the road, and if produced, could not be concealed from them. As estimated above, these statements are self-contradictory.

They will not stand the test applied They will not stand the test applied to the simplest propositions by men of common intelligence. I dare say you have never heard either declaration supported by a single example of the evil effects complained of, and being vague and indefinite, they can only be met in this general way, though I shall try to be more definite in the answer than the charges merit, therefore say that it has been, and is the policy of this company to encourthe policy of this company to encourage all enterprises designed, or whose effect would be to develop the material resources of your state, and will not tax the credulity of your friends not tax the credulity of your friends by advancing any other motive on the part of the company than that of conserving its own interests. In pur-suit of this policy, the rates on cattle to San Francisco were reduced 30 per cent. to figures as low, and in some cases even lower, than from California points equally distant to the same market.

LARGE REDUCTION ON SPECIAL FREIGHTS

AGAIN:-When the packing of meat at Reno for the San Francisco market was proposed, and the railroad company was solicited for reduced rates in order to encourage the enterprise, the petition was promptly met by a reduction of 25 per cent in the rate, notwithstanding the fact, evident to the company at the time, that the transportation of the same number of cattle on the boof, would at the lower live stock rates, pay it better. I suppose there may be found some who will ig-norantly attribute the failure of that norantly attribute the failure of that enterprise to the high (1) freight charges, but the seeker after truth will not have to search far to find the trud cause, which is about as remote from the Central Pacific Railroad Company as the man in the moon. The rate on sulphur has been raduced from time to time, upon representations of the owners of the deposit near Humboldt, until the discount is now equal to over 60 per cent, and a still equal to over 60 per cent. and a still further concession has been offered on condition that an amount sufficient to supply the entire California trade is produced.

Since the great fall in the price lead, the rate of freight on same from the Eureka district has been reduced about 22 per cent, and from time to time the rates on ores have been reduced whenever any evidence was of-fered showing a lower rate necessary in order to move the product. Nerailroad company has not always stood ready to carry to market at a reasonable rate, and can produce nothing that this company will not carry to market at the rate necessary in order to yield the producer a profit, provided that in doing so it is no compelled to unjustly discriminate against communities or interests which have an equal claim upon its

DISCRIMINATION BETWEEN COMMUNI TIRS.

But you ask about the rates on "in freights," "general merchandise," etc., and say, it is alleged that "they are higher thin to other communities no more favorably site; the difference in the rates to transportation by se your information, it may be pertinent for me to ask whether you or any of your friends have ever reflected upon the subject, and endeavored to esti-mate the influence the rates on general merchandise have upon the prosperity of the state? Of course you are of the state? Of course you are aware that it is the consumers who ultimately pay the freights; it follows, then, that no change in rates which will not reach the consumer and lighten his burden, give him better food and clothing, and more of it for the same more, can have an apprethe same money, can have an apprethe same money, can have an appre-siable effect upon the prosperity of the state. With this proposition in view, I call your attention to the an-nexed schedule marked "A.," which gives about all the articles in family use, with the freight cost from San Francisco to Reno shown per yard, piece, package or pound as sold, and invite your criticism and the careful perman of those who may the imple-Invite your criticism and the careful perusal of those who use the implements, eat the food, and wear the clothing, hoping some of them may undertake to inform me how much of a reduction in the present freight rates it would be necessary to make in order to render the cost of living in the been. appreciably lower than it has been. ISCRIMINATION ON PRESENT PROM THE

If I understand rightly, you repreent the burden of the complaint of your people to be "that they are charged more for merchandise from the east, than the San Francisco merchants, though they are several hun-dred notes nearer the shipping point, and that they feel this to be a peculiar hardship." The extent of the hard-ship, if one is admitted, may be gauged by reference to schedule "A." bove referred to, which, if we assume that the people of your section pay more than those of San Francisco do for freight from the same eastern point, by the amount of the freight charge from San Francisco to Reno (and it cannot possibly be more, while the actual difference is less) will jeopardizing not only their fortunes show just what that difference amounts but also their reputations for pruto, and how far the prosperity of your

to, and how far the prosperity of your community, and the communities of Carson, Gold Hill and Virginia City, are affected thereby.

The practice of the company in this regard has been justified publicly, before your legislature and in the press of your state, and privately to individuals, merchants, public and business men agents of the railroad come the prospect of the man who did not admit that it was neither unreasonable, nor unprecedented; because sonable, nor unprecedented; because of this it ought not to be necessary to refer to it in this communication, and yet your inquiry seems to require that I should. It has become common to refer to this practice as a discrimina-tion against Nevada in favor of Cali-fornia, and to pronounce it unjust. The custom is the same with every community similarly situated, and if unjust, then every town in California east of Sacramento, or between Ma-rysville and Sacramento, and between Sacramento and Stockton, and between Stockton and San Francis has the same ground for complaint and every town between Lathrop and Los Angeles may justly complain be-cause it has not received the same freight rates which ocean competition compelled the company to make to Los Angeles, or relinquish the whole of the carrying trade for the southern part of the state of California. Then also may the Salt Lake City merchant complain because he pays more freight on his eastern sugar, whisky, tobacco canned goods, glassware, etc., (See Schedule "B.") than your Reno mer-Schedule "B.") than your Reno merchant pays, though he is more than five hundred miles nearer the shipping point than is your merchant whose treight is hauled past his door. So may the Denver man justly complain that he pays more for California products than the Chicago merchant, though the freight is bauled past him one thousand or more miles, and so may the Chicago merchant justly complain that he has had to pay more for teas from Yokohama and Shanghai than his New York friend, whose goods passed through his city to a goods passed through his city to a point one thousand miles beyond.

COMPETITION AND NATURAL ADVAN TAGES. Competition governs the price freights as well as the price of the commodities of trade. and the case of Nevada is no exception to the rule. To illustrate this, and prove that Nevada has "a fair chance with her neighbors" whom nature has not favored with exceptional advantages which man cannot reaonably be expected to equalize, I have aused to be prepared schedules embracing nearly everything which is subject to transportation overland, and exhibiting the relative rates from eastern trade centers to Salt Lake City and Reno. They accompany this ommunication, and are marked respectively "B" and "C." Schedule in effect when the Pacific roads portation of which the Salt Lake City dealer pays more (and the percentage of difference) than the Reno dealer. though he is five hundred miles nearer the shipping point. Schedule "C" by water, could not have been made, exhibits those articles for which the Salt Lake City dealer pays within twenty per-cent. of the rate paid by the Reno dealer, or in other words he communities no more favorably sit-uated." A single comparison will at Reno. Schedule "B" embraces perhaps answer to prove that Nevada those commodities, which, by reason does not suffer in that respect. For of their nature, are peculiarly subject a, hence the rail from San Francisco to Reno, and rates between the seaboards must be Summer, Cal., respectively about low, and Reno enjoys an advantage over equally distant, is less than seven per her neighbor city of Utah in the freigh so familiar with the character of the respective roads as to render unnecessary a comparison of the nature of service with reference to cost. But in further pursuit of this subject. her neighbor city of Utah in the freight possesses an advantage in the freigh rates her merchants pay on these arti cles over the Reno merchant, though favored by providence above his eastern neighbor, has been dis-criminated against by the same Alcriminated against by the same Almighty power when compared with San Francisco. The question suggested by this showing is: As a carrier is under equal obligations to all the communities it serves, and has not the right to create advantages in favor of one and against another of those communities, whether it has the right to destroy the advantages naturally possessed by the advantages naturally possessed by the one over the other? Ordinarily the question will be evaded by the rejoinder, that a carrier not only has the right, but ought to be required to serve one community at the same price (no one community at the same price (no greater at least) charged other communities for similar or greater services." Many men will rest the case here, considering that rejoinder the end of the argument; a little reflection however, will convince them that the territory is not half told. The that the story is not half told. question to every man should be, whether I am charged more than whether I am charged more than the citizens of other towns and states, but whether I am paying more than a fair compensation for the service performed for me. Ordinarily the value of an article is limited by the cost of reproduction, and the value of a service by and the value of a service by what it can be reproduced for, but I will not urge that principle in this case, as it would summarily dispose of the whole question in favor of higher rates than this company has ever asked, but rather assume a fair compensation to be limited by what is necessary to pay the obligations incurred sary to pay the obligations incurred in the performance of the service, to-gether with a fair profit to those whose genius, labor and time have been em-ployed in it. DOES NEVADA PAY MORE THAN HER SHARE?

Now let any of your readers ac-portation of mails, supplies, troops and munitions of war-averaging during the first five years over $5,000,000 annually, and aggregating, according to the report of the Secretary of War, over forty-aix and one half millions dollars during the first nine years. After this let him enquire as to the earnings made and dividends declared (all of which are matters of public record) and answer as to whether the Company has been more than compensated for its service to the public. But you may reply "Are the charges which produce the earning of the road, as a whole, fairly distributed among as a whole , fairly distributed by the all the communities rerved by the railroad company?" Is not Nevada "taxed more than her share?" I have above shown by a comparison of rates from San Francisco to Sumner, Cal., with the charge from San Francisco to Rene, that there is no appreciable dif-ference in the rates of freight between California points when similarly located with respect to competition. When lower charges rule it is simply because competition compels the rail-road company to do the work at rates fixed by conveyences less costly in construction, and more cheaply operated (because following a natural highway, under the protection of the Government, which clears its obstructions, surveys itt channels and lights them, marks the dangerous points therein, and after all this is done, elieves the vessels using it from liabilities as insurers of goods, etc.) forego doing any of the business. would be just as reasonable to say that the charge for like distances shall be the same regardless of differential circumstances, as to require that no greater charge shall be made from New York to Reno, than from New York to San Francisco. The result of such legislation, if it were possible, would inevitably be to discourage competition, and whatever sum now derived from competitive business, and contributed towards fixed expenses, interest, Government sinking fund, etc., would have to be imposed on the strictly local and non compet-itive traffic. It will be easy for the Californian or Nevadan located on a line which has no competitor to conwould be to reduce or advance his rates, and whether such a policy would promote or retard the growth of communities affected by it. It may be put before your friends more forcibly, perhaps, by asking if such a law as the "Ragan Bill" proposes to place on the National Statute Book had been B" shows those articles for the trans- completed and opened for traffic, what tion of their state? The great reducthe Pacific states, brought about by the railroads' competition with carrier simply because the traffic between th seaboards overland is done at an average rate of less than two cents per dence and good sense. Let him meas-

California and the mineral resources of Nevada. Let him also estimate its value to the nation from political and military stand points the vast savings to the Government in the transure its mighty influence in the pro motion of commerce, in the develop-ment of the agricultural wealth of benefits derived therefrom, for that she has shared them with California, the experience of all your early act-tlers will prove; a simple comparison of the cost of living now, with the cost in anti-railroad days, will satisfy any one of that. THE COST OF MARKETING. But after all it is not the cost of articles imported from abroad for the consumption of your, or any other people, which is essential to their prosperity, but the cost of marketing their productions. I have already given examples of the course of the railroad company with respect to these, and announced its general policy, which challenges the enterprise of your citibetween Winnemucca and Battle Mountain, and between Elko and Battle Mountain, and between Elko and Battle Mountain, and between Elko and Battle Mountain, and, in fact, a general reduction between all stations in your state; and if between points in Nevada, why not from California to Nevada points! And if the rates from California are remaking a single comparison to disabuse the minds of your friends of the erroneous impression created by some, who, perhaps, have taken no pains to verify their statements, "that eastern captal is being, or has been turned from Nevada to that state in consequence of lower freight rates." Like Nevada, of lower freight rates." Like Nevada, Colorado depends chiefly upon mining interests, and mainly to the developments of Leadville district, does she ments of Leadville district, does also owe her rank and reputation. The products of that district are chiefly lead ores, similar to those of the Eureka district, and if it were greatly, or to any extent, the relative cheapness with which these ores, or their products, were transported to the general markets, upon which her relative superiority rested, it ought surely to follow that the cost of transportation to New York, the governing market to New York, the governing market of our country, is lower than from Ne-vada. The truth is that it coats the shipper an average of 12 per cent, more to deliver his lead from Lead-ville in New York than the Eureka while in New York than the Eureka miner pays; this, too, notwithstanding that Leadville is about one theusand miles nearer New York than Eureka is, and the Leadville product is trans-ported for the most part through thickly populated districts, threaded by cheaply built, and comparatively inexpensively operated railroad lines, to for lower rates on grain from Cali-

THE FREIGHT ON PLOUR AND GRAIN Sacramento at ates than from Reno to points on the oad east of your place. To this I return an unqualified denial, and rejoin that it is to the maintainance of the resent tariff rates on flour, that Reno, Winnemucca, and Elko, owe their res nary business ventures, that of "grasp- for a reduction of more than one-half in the rate on wheat from Ogden, that ing everything in sight," of making a the mill at Elko may be kept running ate a people, who, under the pressure of the failure of mines, the universal ure of crops, etc., etc., have been misled to charge their distress to the very agent of whatever trade and hope of prosperity is left to them, it might find an excuse for reducing rates on products of the soil. A reduction in rates on grain and flour might be made which would supply your state entirely with the cheap er product or manufacture of Califor-nia and Utah, and show a present ma-terial gain in earnings to the carrier, but what would would be the effect but what would would be the effect upon the growing agricultural interests of Nevada? Would it promote or retard the development of those resources upon which her ultimate prosperity and the permanent value of the railroad depend? It is said that "farmers at Lovelocks find it cheaper to hault wheat the said that "farmers at Lovelocks find it cheaper to hault wheat the said that "farmers at Lovelocks find it cheaper to hault wheat the said that "farmers are said to the said that th wheat to Reno by teams less than $11.50 per ton. He rethan to ship it by railroad." plied: "I own the necessary teams, and an abundance of hay and grain; Acids. Ac favored with personal interviews by some of the largest of the farmers referred to, and have gone over the whole ground with them. They seem to appreciate the embarrassments of the railroad company's position, but feel that it ought to be able to help them, just as every individual thinks his us t as every individual thinks his only expense to me is the daily wages particular case can and ought to of the teamster. Even this has been e cared for, whether it discriminates against his neighbor or brought t not; or, if you will permit has been the statement of what appears to the farm be patent, just as the merchants of Reno teamster and Virginia City are perfectly willing for them and Virginia City are perfectly willing to be discriminated in favor of as against Salt Lake City, but protest against anything having the appear-ance of a discrimination in favor of San Francisco and against them.

The rate on grain and and flour from Sacramento to Reno, is the same other words, the Lovelocks ramento dealer in the freight to Rene of $7.80 per ton. His advantage with respect to the Reno market over the California farmer is even greater, for the latter's grain pays freight from the producing point to Sacramento, whence the above comparison is made. What the Lovelocks farmer wants is, the Reno price for grain, which is made by taking the price of grain in California, plus the freight from, say Sacramento to Reno, but does not wish to eceives at the rate of about one cent per ton per mile. A law requiring all intermediate traffic to be handled at no greater cost to the shipper, would have prohibited competition, which these rates, and, necessarily, ramento to Reno, but does not wish to pay the same price per ton per mile for hauling it that the California shipwould have deprived Nevada of the per pays to get his grain to the same market. The railroad managers say to him: "We cannot consistently reduce your rate without making a cor-responding reduction from California, which would simply leave you in your present relation to the Reno market or in other words, the reduction in the rate of freight would only have the ef-fect of reducing the price you would receive for oour grain in Reno. Again: book that practically requires all rates for like distances within your state to be the same on similar articles of like quantities. If the rate to Reno were reduced, this law might require a like reduction to Winnemucca and if between Winne mucca and Lovolocks, then why not between Winnemucca and Battle simply suffer a like reduction in the price he receives for his grain?" Let me answer these questions by giving a leaf or two from the history of the road's management. EXPERIENCE IN RASTERN NEVADA. Several years ago, when the Eureka and Palisade railroad was completed, of the fi it was thought proper upon the part of its managers to endeavor to secure all the carrying trade for southeastern Nevada, with the double purpose of from a C benefitting its owners by increasing its trade, and fostering the industries of that section by inaugurating com-petition with the Utah roads, which were chiefly supplying it. To accomplish this, the Eureka and Palisade railroad company had to establish lines of teams, and extend the team routes. This could not be done in competition with the Mormon teams, fed on the chesp grain of that territory unless cheap grain could be secured for the animals necessary to be employed in furtherance of the scheme of the Nevada company. The Central ratively Pacific railroad company was appealed

Here again you have illustrated the advantages of proximity to the seal to her closer connection with the seal board, which, in this case, gives Eureka the advantage over Leadville, just as her location on the sea coast gives San Francisco merchants the advantage over those of Reno.

To lower rates on grain from California, and for obvious reasons granted them. This action was immediately followed by a strongly written protest from the merchants and produces of Elko county, who alleged that it distroyed the only market for their products, would ruin the farmers. their products, would ruin the farmers, and as a consequence, paralyze every You hear it asserted that flour is taken trade and industry of that section. The concession to the Eureka & Palisa le railroad company was immediately modified, and an effort made to harmonize the conflicting interests of southern and southeastern Nevada, and Elko county, but the result has been that the people of the former section use to a very large extent, Utah grain pective manufacturing interests in that line. I do not doubt I that were the management of the company animated by the purposes, which, too often for the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often for the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often for the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes, which too often the public good, controls ordinated by the purposes and the public good the purposes of the purposes "splendid show of earnings," to influence the price of stocks and bonds, and to warrant the distribution of fat dividends; or even if it wished to concilient the mill at Elko may be kept running and enabled to supply its citizens with flour (the crop in Elko county having been a partial failure and the supply of local grain exhausted) not with standing the fact that Ogden flour can be purchased and laid down at Elko, paying the depression of trade, and stringency of money incident to resumption, the failthe Elko mill at the time of the petition for lower rates. When asked for the rate referred to, this company was given to understand that it was wanted but temporarily, only to bridge over the time mature coming crops, as in the view of the writerof the request, the importation of foreign grown grain was inimical to the interests of that section. "But," you urge, "the farmers are hauling the grain alongside your road. Can it be that any rail-rate is reasona ble which will permit that?" been asked this question before talking with the Lovelocks farmer the an-ing with the Lovelocks farmer the answer might have been different. It isked him: "how can you afford to team nearly one hundred miles against our rate? It costs $12 per ton to haul sulphur a distance of less than thirty miles to Humboldt, and/a contract to haul 1,000 tons could not be let for less than $11 50 per ton."
